

Kitty And Friends

Little white kitty sits in my lap,
Purring, licking and stretching some too:
preparing to nestle in for a little cat nap.
Said I, “no you don’t, I’ve things to do, well maybe just for a minute or two.”
We get all cozy, comfy and nice,
But alas Kitty spots two little gray mice.
Little white Kitty is now quite alert,
her little claws digging into my lap.
The hair on her back has become quite alert.
The wee wee mice head for a small tiny gap
But kitty quick lunges and gives them a slap!
“Run Timmy, run Sammy,” kitty says to the two,
“If I catch you now, then what will I do?”
